February 2008 / Vol. 12

Well another year ended and before we knew it January was gone, too! It seems like just yesterday I was getting over that awful sunburn and now it's February! But, we always look forward to the holiday season and this past one was no exception. Thanks to all of you we had a wonderful season and have begun the year with much excitement! Each year we join the millions of folks who set goals and make resolutions. And every year our first resolution is to somehow get a restaurant review from a major source. Well, finally, after 4 1/2 years we can scratch that off the list!! That's right, a few weeks ago we were visited by Bella English of the Boston Globe and expect to read all about her impressions on Wednesday, February 6 in the Food Section. We're quite anxious (and a little nervous) but excited nonetheless! So take a look online or pickup the paper and keep your fingers crossed! We hope you get to check off your resolutions this year, too! ENJOY!!
